

Oahu Intergroup Office Manager's Report

February, 2026

In February, ten Office Volunteers and 15 Phone Angels answered 148 calls. Our website had more than 7,800 views.

In February, the Central Office sold $2,324 in literature. Our top seller was, as usual, the Big Book, 77 of them. A third of those were Plain Language Big Books, mostly purchased by PRAASA attendees. At PRAASA, the OIG literature table sold almost $1,000 worth of literature, nearly half of the month's total. The $2,324 we sold, minus the $2090 we spent on literature, left us a gain of $234 for the book bank.

Last month, 26 out of 118 groups contributed to the Central Office. But this month, we received a $600 contribution from the Aloha RoundUp Committee. We don't usually receive contributions from events, and we're very grateful. We also received a check for $3,000 bequeathed to Central Office by a late member named Bruce Mcl, the first bequest in my four years running the office. Thank you, Bruce.

The costs of running the Central Office and the OIG are covered solely by contributions. It's up to the fellowship whether they want to have a Central Office. But you might ask yourself, as Nick at GSO wrote, "I no longer ask what I, or even we, might gain by contributing. I ask what might be lost if I do not."

We must move office in September, so we are looking for at least 400 square feet for $1200.00 or less per month. Ideally, it'd be near a freeway for easy accessibility for the fellowship. If you know of a place, please contact us.

An issue we were having with Google Analytics has been resolved but maintaining a website without a webmaster or web tech remains a challenge. It appears to be unrealistic to expect a trained webmaster to volunteer on a consistent basis.

Please submit your event flyers earlier so that more may participate and support your event. And if you have submitted a form and not heard back, please contact me at manager@oahucentraloffice.com or call the office at (808) 946-1438. Because, while investigating a lack of results from one form, I discovered that there'd been five now-past event submissions that weren't delivered to my inbox.

Meanwhile, we're asking for groups to create an email with their group name. It's against the traditions to have members' names, personal telephone numbers, and email addresses on flyers that can be viewed by anyone online. We don't want to see you or your information at risk.
